Saygin,

Thank you for meeting with the SMM programme team and providing an overview of your offering – Kadazan Project. Clearly considerable time and effort has been put into the development of this product.

As you are aware, individual DHBs or groups of DHBs are responsible for their own purchasing decisions in relation to information systems to support medication management. SMM is identifying appropriate standards and working with vendors to get these incorporated into their respective offerings.

You indicated that you are willing to incorporate these standards into Kadazan project. We appreciate this. Standards are going to play a major role in medication management information systems.

As far as potential customers go, you can advise them that you met with the SMM programme team, overviewed Kadazan Project, and that they should feel free to evaluate your offering when they assess the medication management information system solutions available to them.

Regards
